*On the following pages you will find many interesting facts about
NGC and its history.
Let's take a look at our history . . .*

In 1933, the drill field was a corn field, and a local dairy provided food for the college community. All facilities were heated by wood stoves; pitchers, bowls, and slop jars were standard toiletry items. Entertainment consisted of church-sponsored events, especially picnics. Couples always walked in groups. Daily chapel attendance was mandatory.

Today, in 1977, the drill field is the center of play and activity for NGC students. Anything and everything is usually played on the drill field — from intramurals, rec clubs, military drills, throwing frisbees, to playing football. Almost anything is allowed — except walking across the field.

Early 1900's cadets drilled 5 hours a week, but by 1930, military exercises were held every day — drill 5 weekdays, personal equipment and personal inspection on Saturday, and quarters inspection on Sunday. Cadets wore gray uniforms of Civil War vintage. Commissioned officers wore a red sash that went over one shoulder and around the waist over the sword belt.

The men in today's ROTC drill one hour a week, unless there is extra practice for special events. Personal inspection is held on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and the men can be heard trying to wake up all the women students, by yelling the cadences. The uniforms are green and khaki and are worn every day of the week, except Saturday and Sunday until 6:00 p.m., unless of course, you are a first quarter frog.

Women were admitted on an equal basis as men. When a woman entered North Georgia College, she enrolled in the Female Department and had the right to pursue any degree offered by the college. Rooms were set aside for the women students' use. When a woman was not attending recitations, she remained in her room in the presence of and under the supervision of the principal of the Female Department.

Now women students are allowed to pursue any career that they wish. Participation in the ROTC is optional for women students.

A curfew of 12 midnight during the week and 2 AM on weekends applies to every female student, except first quarter freshmen which have to be in at 10:15 during the week.

Girls are allowed to participate in sports and join sororities.

Freshmen women actually have it better than the freshmen guys for the first two quarters as the guys have to be in at 8 PM to study every week night unless they have a 3.0 average.

In 1905, tuition was $5.00 a quarter, and a student who did his own cooking could live on $7.00 a month. A BA degree meant that you had completed four years of Greek, Latin, and French in addition to other subjects. In 1901, 75 to 100 students enrolled in the freshman class. Only 4 or 5 people finished the course. Course work took up to 26 recitation hours a six-day week.

Today tuition is $182 a quarter, plus room and board for students living on campus. The average student spends anywhere from $25-$50 a month, maybe more. A BA degree means that you have completed 185 hours plus physical education and military science. Students generally find some time to study, in between playing sports, cards, watching boys (or girls) and going to classes. Typical students spend about 3 hours outside of class for every hour in class, but then—who's typical??

MILITARY

The GIAC Tournament marked the end of another successful year for the North Georgia Saints under the very capable leadership of Coach "Bill Ensley". Completing the season with a fine 19-8 win/loss record, 11-3 in the conference, and a tie for the GIAC title, the SAINTS went on to win the Tournament Championship with tough victories over Berry, Georgia College and Piedmont. All-Tournament honors went to Lacca Bromell, Walter Heard and to Cornell Newson, the Tournament's Most Valuable Player.

Sometimes during a busy day, we stop to remember all the good times, good friends, classmates and roommates; we stop to reflect upon our past days-happiness and sorrow. And when we stop to think, we will always remember our college days and be thankful.

The Sunrise was a beautiful beginning. The new experiences with both old and new friends, the excitement of life, and the thirst for knowledge filled the air. The ending is near, and it is as beautiful as the sunset, with it's climax to the ending day and it's promise of a brighter tomorrow.

EDITOR'S COMMENTS

As I sit here contemplating the long and tedious work that went into this year's Annual, I ask myself that same old question, "Is it really worth all the trouble?" I reflect upon all the trials and tribulations I met and conquered; the loss of both photographers and film; the arranging of pictures; the training of new staff; the hassle with both students and faculty on many points contributing to the betterment of the CYCLOPS; and the final production work which goes into finishing the book. But now, when I look back upon all the effort, time and energy, I'm pleased with the result and was happy to do it. No one else can be experiencing what I am feeling what I have gone through. Only editors of other Annuals could possibly begin to experience the excitement, pains and fulfillment in finally finishing an Annual. It is an experience and adventure I know I will never forget.

I want to thank everyone who has helped with this book, especially Bonnie McLean and Marla Thurman for giving me their help when I needed it most. Many thanks go to my brother George for all of his help with the film and photography. Special thanks go to Phil Pace for his constant help and understanding. Extra thanks are due to both Dan Troy and Miriam West, representatives of American Yearbook Company for their constant support and help with the production of this Annual. I personally want to thank Dean Hyams for all of his help and guidance. Also, special thanks to Barry King.

A lot of work and effort has gone into this book in order for it to be the best one ever from NGC. We hope that each one of you enjoys the book as much as we do. Maybe in future years, the student interest in the book will grow, contributing to the continuing popularity of the book among the student body.

Thanks to both Dr. McLeod and Dr. Wade for their continual interest and encouragement in helping me through these years.

I hope each one of you will enjoy the book and keep it as a memory of a year spent at NGC. May we all venture forth together.
